Management Discussion And Analysis:

Industry Structure and Development

The financial services sector in India has witnessed a fundamental transformation since the country was liberalized. India, in the last few years, has emerged as the one of the most rapidly growing economies across the globe. The financial services market is growing rapidly, and there is significant potential for further growth.

India has a strong financial regulatory system – controlled by RBI and supported by regulatory body such as Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) and Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority, which govern capital markets, mutual funds and insurance companies. The government has taken many steps to encourage investments in the financial sector.

The Indian high savings rate offers noteworthy opportunity to put resources into the financial markets. The country has a favorable demographic profile with a large segment of the population under 30 years. The Census 2011 shows that 56.9 per cent of India's total population comes in the age group 15-59 years. The country will witness a sharp decline in the dependency ratio over the next thirty years – which will be a great dividend. As the dividend begins to pay off, with the working age-group population rising disproportionately over the next two decades, the savings rate is likely to rise further.

In an effort to support hedging of currency risks for non-resident exporters and importers, the RBI has issued norms permitting them to either use overseas banks or those in the country to settle foreign trade transactions invoiced in the Indian rupee.

Further, the Finance Ministry is stepping up its efforts to widen the class of foreign investors in the Indian stock market. This is evident from the fact that first, the government gave the green signal for qualified foreign investors (QFIs) to invest in mutual funds, and now, individual investors from across the globe are expected to soon get the right to buy blue-chip Indian stocks. However, the tight monetary policy may have a negative affect on the demand growth & investment activity and the consequent degrading in the earning capacity of companies. This may have a negative impact on the stock markets. FDI flows in 2010-11 have seen a slowdown from the previous year, second time in a row, which is a matter of concern as high growth economies tend to have positive FDI flows which enhances the rate of economic growth.

Opportunities and Threats

Opportunity:

The company's present focus is on fund to be invested into the stock markets. Company is using its own funds and has not borrowed any funds. That makes the company in position to take more risky decisions for investment. In India people aspire to invest in investment products and services. The company has developed and is developing products to meet the demand. There is great potential in India to invest in the market by providing them opportunity to invest their funds. This market is being approached by the company through direct mail, targeted advertising and community seminars.

The company has advanced technology team that delivers market leading products innovation and also having strong and experienced promoters as well as Board of Directors group to develop the business of the company.

Threats:

With the rapidly expanding Indian Market and presenting a host of opportunities in the financial services sector, there are many players who are venturing in this business therefore there is threats of the tough competition to the company.

Segment–Wise or Product-Wise Performance

During the year under review, the Company has carried out a single business activity namely “Trading of Shares”; hence there is no segment wise or product wise performance of the Company in last financial year.

Outlook

Indian capital markets witnessed a challenging year with volatile FII net flows, muted retail participation in equities, growing shift towards low-yielding options and lower value of ECM deals. These were reflected in the overall market performance as well as in our own business performance.

We strongly believe that India is a great growth story and is likely to become a US$ 5 trillion economy by 2020. Backed by strong savings, there would be fabulous growth opportunities for firms operating in the financial services space.

During the current year, we have laid a strong foundation for our business to scale up and grab a meaningful share of these opportunities.

Risks and Concerns

While any business is far from being a risk free activity, the financial services sector is more prone to risk. To combat this Money Matters follows a process of risk management that comprises risk identification, risk analysis and measurement. This is followed by creating a suitable risk mitigation or management framework covering control activities/procedures.

The following are the broad categories of risks identified:

- 1) Market Risk
- 2) Compliance Risk
- 3) Operational Risk
- 4) Technology Risk
- 5) Finance Risk
- 6) Project Execution Risk
- 7) Liquidity Risk

The Company has instituted a self-governed Risk Management framework based on identification of potential risk areas, evaluation of risk intensity, and clear-cut risk mitigation policies, plans and procedures both at the enterprise and operating levels. The framework seeks to facilitate a common organizational understanding of the exposure to various risks and uncertainties at an early stage, followed by timely and effective mitigation. The Audit Committee of the Board reviews the risk management framework at periodic intervals.

Internal Control System and Their Adequacy:

The company has a proper and adequate system of internal controls to ensure that all assets are safeguarded and protected against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and those transactions are authorized, recorded and reported correctly. The internal control system is supplemented by an extensive program of internal audit review by management and documented policies, guidelines and procedures.

The company has an effective system in place towards achieving efficiency in operations, optimum and effective utilization of resources monitoring thereof and compliance with applicable laws. This is continually reviewed for effectiveness and is augmented by written policies and guidelines, the careful selection of qualified personnel.
